California's Marine Life Protection Act Initiative

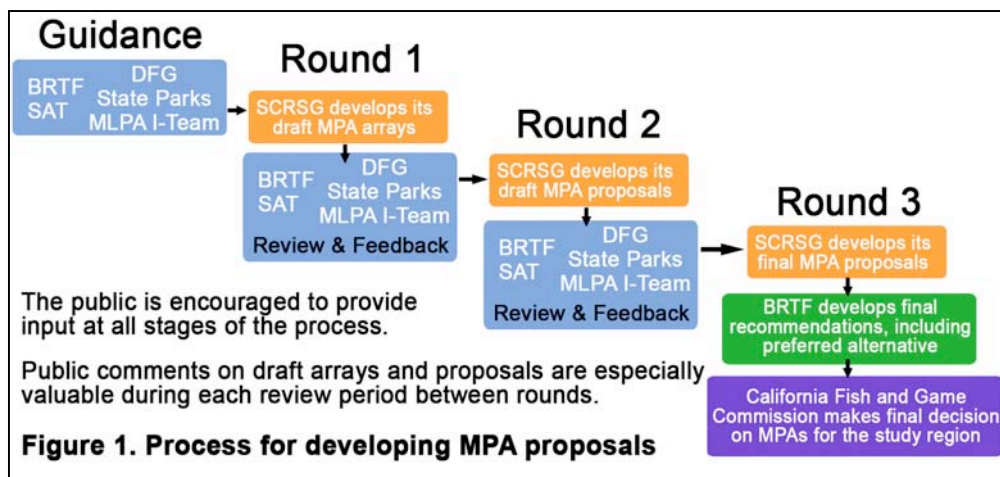

South Coast Project (2008-2009)

What is the format of the public open houses?

They are informal and do not require that you attend the entire three hours. Rather, informational stations are set up where you can move around at your leisure to view maps, receive written materials, ask questions of staff or regional stakeholder group members who helped develop the marine protected area (MPA) proposals, and submit your own ideas or suggestions for how to improve the proposals.

What is the process for developing marine protected area (MPA) proposals within the MLPA South Coast Study Region?

The MLPA South Coast Regional Stakeholder Group (SCRSG) develops alternative MPA proposals during three "rounds" of development and feedback. During each round of planning, the alternative MPA proposals are evaluated by the MLPA Master Plan Science Advisory Team (SAT), California Department of Fish and Game (DFG), California Department of Parks and Recreation (State Parks), and MLPA Initiative staff. In addition, guidance is provided by the MLPA Blue Ribbon Task Force (BRTF), which will develop a final set of recommendations in October 2009 and then present them to the California Fish and Game Commission.

California Department of Parks and Recreation (State Parks), and MLPA Initiative staff. In addition, guidance is provided by the MLPA Blue Ribbon Task Force (BRTF), which will develop a final set of recommendations in October 2009 and then present them to the California Fish and Game Commission. The public has an opportunity to provide input during each round.

Where is the SCRSG in the MPA development process for the south coast study region?

Potential MPA proposals for the study region are now in Round 2 and have been submitted for various evaluations. The results of these evaluations and public comment (including comments received at the public open houses) will help inform the process of developing Round 3 proposals, which will begin on August 4, 2009. Ultimately, Round 3 proposals will be delivered to the BRTF, the group overseeing this process, in October 2009. Final recommendations are then developed by the BRTF to advance to the California Fish and Game Commission in December 2009.

What if I can't attend one of the public open houses?

If you are not able to attend, you may also provide your feedback by sending a message to MLPAComments@resources.ca.gov or by mail to MLPA Initiative, c/o California Natural Resources Agency, 1416 Ninth Street, Suite 1311, Sacramento, CA 95814. Your comments will be most helpful if received no later than July 19, 2009 so that they can be distributed to the SCRSG and BRTF members prior to the start of Round 3.
